Epitaphs.—The Railroad and Steamboat style.

The New York Sunday Times suggests that it would be a good idea to place a cross, bearing an appropriate epitaph, at the localities of each railroad accident, as a gentle intimation to passengers of the peril of their situation, and a continual memento of the uncertainty of life on railroads. The Times offers a few samples of the style of epitaph, which would be selected as follows:

"A sudden pitch,
From a misplaced switch,
Laid me dead in this ditch."

"Off the track the engine rushed—
Some were drowned and I was crushed."

"Here repose two victims stacked
At one blow by the same snakehead."

"What is life?" 'Tis but a vision.
Here I died by a collision.
Twenty more died by the same;
Verdict—'Nobody to blame.'"

"Sister, mother, aunt and me
Were run over. Here we be.
We should have had time to whistle,
Had they blown the engine's whistle."

"Sweeping round a curve
Whose outer flexture bordered an abyss,
The cars were canted down the precipice,
And seven of us killed. But what of that?
'Twas the curve did it. And the engineer,
Being upon a bender, was exonused."

"Train-borne traveller, rushing by,
As thou passeth plug thine eye
Here a car, well filled with freight,
Killed sixteen and wounded eight,
For a moment, friends, be weepers,
As you pass the railroad sleepers
You may share our fate—why not?
Ere you reach the next depot."

"Here are deposited the bones,
(The flesh being torn off,)
Of an unknown man,
Who, being deaf, blind and lame,
Neglected to obey the customary signals,
And was run over as a punishment
For his contumacy.
The engineer promptly stopped the engine
After it had cut the body in two,
And with most exemplary humanity,
Conveyed the remains to an adjacent wood-shed,
Where all means of resuscitation were tried;
But alas!
The vital spark had fled!
And for the humanity they displayed,
The engineer and signal men
Were presented by the company
With a service of plate."

Spiritual Rappings.

Our chief objection to spiritual rappings has always been that they didn't amount to much. They don't seem to show us any thing in the spiritual world worth looking after.—The spirit of Towzer talks of those same old coons that he treed in this world, only they are twice as big and harder to catch. What of that? The same may be true of the coons in Utah. This world is larger than one can take in at once.

However, the last case of spiritual rapping we have seen does not appear to be open to this objection, whatever others it may be open to. A large circle were recently seated around a black walnut table, in Washington, among whom was the learned Judge Dogtis recently ermined. The medium was an English lady who has drawn some remarkably good portraits of our distinguished men, and many such were present on this occasion, including several would-be candidates for the Presidency, and heads of departments.

The company was not much sooner seated than loud raps were heard under the table, and at each rap that entire moveable seemed to rise bodily and fall back with a jounce.—The medium inquired if any gentleman wished to communicate with any departed spirit.

Judge Dogtis—Is the spirit of James Madison present?

Rap, Rap—Yes.

Judge D.—Shall I have the pleasure of conversing with you on constitutional law?

Rap, Rap—Yes.

Judge D.—Will you use the alphabet?

Rap—No. I will write with the hand of the medium, [which the spirit accordingly did, and the following dialogue ensued:]

Judge Dogtis—Seeing a great national interest was at stake, why was not the fugitive slave clause in the Constitution more explicitly worded?

Spirit of Madison—There is no such clause.

Judge D.—I mean the clause obliging the States to give up fugitives from service or labor.

S. of M.—I understand you. I have been a great sufferer for that clause. I saw clearly that it would not do to have posterity blush for us, though there was a difficulty to be encountered. So I was careful not to have the term slave incorporated into the clause.

Judge D.—Precisely. But you intended that the case of the fugitive slave should be included under the more general terms used, did you not?

S. of M.—Certainly not. The language used is emphatically descriptive only of free legal persons, who are capable of contracting and owing. The misinterpretation of this language to make the national ulcer the ruling national interest, has given me infinite pain. So it has my fellow patriots who actively engaged in bringing about our revolution. We were ashamed to put into the Constitution either in particular or in general terms, any expression assuming or sanctioning the right of property in human beings.

With a clause understood to have such a meaning, the constitution would not have been adopted, either in the convention or by the people of the States. Yet, on the other hand, there was the difficulty of unsettling at once the de facto slave property, we were therefore fain to gratify Butler and the Pinckneys by incorporating into the constitution a clause really applicable only to freemen, but which had been taken also as applicable to slaves.

Judge D.—You astonish me.

S. of M.—Not so much as I have been astonished at you. We supposed it impossible that slavery could continue many years, especially after the foreign slave trade should be abolished. We knew the weakness that had been entailed upon us in this dreadful institution. But we trusted to the rising spirit of the infant liberty. We looked forward to the day when the Federal Court, sitting in the majesty of Justice, would have this great question brought before it, and would find our constitution in all its terms perfectly pure from this taint, in harmony with the Declaration of our Independence, and the eternal laws of the universe. Had we not a right to expect this? Was the whole work of eradicating this tremendous evil to be thrown upon us in our weak state, before ever the rudiments of a government were developed?

Might we not expect something to be done by posterity when we did so much as to organize a general government without giving any countenance to this unnatural and iniquitous claim of property in man?

Judge D.—But our Federal Court at a very early day decided that you did.

S. of M.—Alas! The descent has been too rapid! The Court must have supposed us a remarkable set of fools to be so careful to exclude the term slave, if we admitted another expression comprehending the same thing! We have borne this insult in silence till we can bear it no longer. While the action under it, based on the less stringent law of '93, was little other than theoretical and nugatory, we kept still. But since slave-catching has been made a test of nationality, and we are made responsible for a system of perpetual kidnapping, we can keep still no longer. At the popular delusion we do not so much wonder. But we looked for better sense in the Supreme Court. We looked for a decent respect to the laws of grammar, at least. And we warn you that hereafter, whenever you assume the constitutionality of property in human flesh, you may expect rappings.—Commonwealth.

Last Night of the Session.

We must give our readers some idea of the closing evening session of a Wisconsin Legislature, premising that the one we are about to describe is said to have been unusually decorous and orderly.

Assembly met at 7 o'clock P. M. Messages from the Senate—concurrences and disagreements, recessions, amendments, agreements, and delightful harmonies, between both branches. Table cleared,—but Assembly in session informally. Paper bullets flying thick and fast. Song from Messrs. Utley and Woodle: "Carry me long—carry me till I die." Message from the Senate. Speaker resumed the Chair, and Assembly voted on the business before them. Calls on various individuals and lobby members for speeches. No response. Gen. Utley, of Racine, offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, That a select committee of three be appointed by the Chair, to divide the State of Wisconsin into four parts,—that the northern part of the State be granted to Morgan L. Martin, Public Benefactor and Architect of State Indebtedness; the eastern part, to Alexander Mitchell, Secretary of the Marines and Financial Agent; the southern part, to A. Hyatt Smith, President General of the Northwestern Railroads, and Receiver General of Public Lands; and the western, to the Hon. Otis Hoyt, for the formation of a new Territory, to be ultimately transformed, with the prospective Governor, into a Superior State. And that the above-named parties, in case of disagreement in regard to their powers and duties, be authorized to call on the Attorney General to harmonize their conflicting interests, by a legal opinion: Provided, That nothing in said division shall deprive the Adjutant General of the right to exercise his functions as Military Superior and Commander of the whole."

Dr. Hoyt, Governor expectant of the future State of Superior, responded in a brief speech to the compliment intended for him. Message from the Senate. Action on it. Call for a speech from the Editor of the Free Democrat, to which he replied:

"Gentlemen of the Assembly, and fellow sufferers in the cause of Legislative incubation! It is doubtless a matter of rejoicing to you all, that we are about to separate from each other. I can assure you that I reciprocate this feeling most heartily. It would give me great pleasure to remain long enough to hear the Speaker pronounce his excellent funeral sermon, next Monday, on the death of the Assembly. But though I shall not 'be in at the death,' I shall have the consolation of writing the epitaph of the members of the Legislature. And though it may not be as flattering as most modern epitaps, I shall endeavor, at least, to make it more truthful."

Mr. Woodle, of Janesville, moved that the writing of the epitaph be indefinitely postponed. (Cheers.) Mr. W. called on for a speech: "Felt happy—good feeling all round—if any of the members, outside or inside, came near his grocery, if they would step in, he'd give 'em something to drink."

Ex-Member Moorman doubted if any would be left, after Mr. Woodle had imbibed.

Song again from Messrs. Utley and Woodle. The Shullsburgh Brass Band were now introduced, and performed half an hour—Sweet Afton, Bonaparte's Grave, Wisconsin, Yankee Doodle, Hail Columbia, &c. Collection taken up for the Band.

Mr. Ramsey, from Rock, called on for a speech. Got half way through the first sentence, when the Sergeant-at-Arms blew a blast from the trombone, which, with the succeeding cheers, drowned the member's voice, and he sat down in a blaze of glory.

The Band invited by a Committee, to visit the Senate. Accepted.

Assembly adjourned for one hour, and the members dispersed to the Hotels and Saloons, to play billiards, drink, and jollify. The important Committees hard at work all this time, comparing and enrolling bills. Speaker adjourned from billiard Saloon to the Capitol, and prorogued the Assembly till 6 o'clock, Monday morning. Concluded with a fine supper at the "States," to which we were invited.

☞ While the Assembly were waiting on Saturday evening for messages from the Senate, the outsiders were entertained with the usual boy's play, and small talk of the last night of a session. The paper balls flew thick as hail, one of them taking Booth of the Democrat, who was walking back and forth in the body of the House, singing a negro melody, plump in the eye.—Madison Democrat.

We were standing by our desk, reading the Racine Advocate, when the ball struck us. But the Democrat seldom pays any regard to truth, when speaking of us.

Southern Michigan Line.—The Sheboygan Lake Journal says that it has received information that the Southern Michigan Line is to be: place the Queen City and Alabama on this Lake to run between Chicago and Sheboygan. We hope it is true.

☞ The Chicago Tribune states that its circulation is now nineteen hundred and four.

CITY MATTERS.

Cattle for the East.—Between forty and fifty head of fat cattle were brought in on the cars yesterday. They are for the eastern market. Quite a number of head of cattle have been purchased here already this season, to be shipped to the East. We expect to be able to help materially in supplying the demand of the eastern meat market, when we get a complete chain of Railroads, connecting the luxuriant prairies of Wisconsin with New York, so that cattle can start from here, and within three or four days thereafter be served up in the shape of beef steak, &c., to satisfy the appetites of the Gothamites. And the day isn't far distant.

The Cathedral.—The work on this structure has again been resumed, though but few hands as yet have been employed on it. When completed, it will be decidedly the largest and most magnificent edifice in this city. We presume that, as soon as the weather becomes really settled, it will be vigorously prosecuted to completion.

A Park.

A writer in the Wisconsin, last evening, urged upon the City authorities the importance of securing a piece of land, suitable for a City Park. We desire to join our voice to his in favor of the move. The City is notoriously deficient in public grounds. And through the defect cannot be supplied now as well as it could have been prevented by a wise policy at the beginning—yet it can be remedied better and more easily now than it ever can be hereafter.

We are growing up, a mere City of streets walled in by brick and mortar. On little lots, scarcely big enough for an Alderman to turn around on, we have crowded together dwelling-houses, barns, pig-pens, hen-coops, wood-yards, &c., in such close proximity as leaves no room for ornament or pleasure.—Men step from their doors on to the side-walk without passing beneath the shadow of a tree or meeting a single flower or shrub. We can scarcely expect to change this state of things. Men are so intent on making money that they economize their land, economize the happiness and comfort of their homes, economize their health, and we are afraid in many cases economize their consciences to make money. We dislike the manner in which people crowd together in cities; but we know that under the present organization of society there is much to excuse it. But there is no excuse for neglecting to provide some public place or places, where the people can escape from the narrow dusty streets and crowded houses, and breathe freely the pure air of heaven. Let our City authorities look to this. Let them provide land for parks in different parts of the city. There should be one on Spring street Hill, one in the First Ward between the river and the lake, and one somewhere on the hill in the Fifth Ward. They should all be as large as they can be consistently, but it is not absolutely necessary that each should contain a hundred or even fifty acres. Forty, thirty or even twenty would be better than nothing. Let us have such grounds then, where the oaks, the elms and the maples can be set out and spread over the earth their grateful and refreshing shade, where we may see the green grass and the blooming and fragrant flowers and shrubs; where youths and maidens may ramble in the "moonlight hours" which, as the poet says, "were made for love;" where our City Fathers, fatigued with the cares of their large and increasing family, may occasionally retire to refresh themselves after their labors; and where their hopeful and happy children may promenade, play wicket or cricket, sit in the shade or partake of any of the other "thousand and one" pleasures which such places might afford. If our paternal Board of Aldermen would be remembered with gratitude by posterity, let them take measures for procuring some City Parks.

Drowned.—A man named Michael Miley, was picked up in the river a few rods below Spring Street Bridge this morning. He was between 20 and 30 years of age, a painter by trade, had worked, for some time past, in Mr. Grants Shop on Mason Street, and was deaf and dumb.

He was last seen about half past 9 o'clock last evening and was then in a state of intoxication. It is quite probable that he attempted to cross Spring St. Bridge, and his compass being out of order, made a slight mistake is his reckoning, and consequently brought his career to an untimely end. This again, is chargeable to rum—there is a long running account against the old monster which will have to be cancelled eventually.

☞ Yesterday was another warm, vernal day, closing its existence in tears, and low, hollow murmurings. We expected it would repent and do better to-day.

Milwaukee Female Seminary.—The Trustees of this Institution met yesterday afternoon and organized under the Charter by appointing Moses Kneeland, President, D. H. Chandler, Secretary, Alexander Mitchell, Treasurer, and Jas. H. Rogers, John Ogden, and Edward Button in addition to the above named officers, the Executive Committee for the coming year. Miss Ranson and Mrs. Beckwith were appointed Associate Principals, Miss Lydia Ely, Teacher in Drawing; Mr. Biederman, teacher in German, and Mr. Hempstead, teacher in Music.

Messrs. Chandler, Goodall and Rev. Mr. Spencer, were appointed a committee to draft by-laws for the Board.

We see nothing to prevent this Seminary from prospering.

☞ Emery has commenced erecting an addition to his Confectionery.

Sad Accident.—A sailor named Carl, was instantly killed about 1 o'clock to-day, by falling from the yard-arm of the schooner Kirk White, a distance of near forty feet, to the deck.

Street Cleaning.—For three or four days past several of the main streets in the city have been undergoing cleaning, and the work isn't half done yet, notwithstanding the important assistance rendered by the daily rains. There is still a complete winrow of filth on each side of East Water street for nearly its entire length.

At the Old Stand.—Durbin & Bosustow have opened a Grocery and Provision Store, at the "old stand" of Plankinton & Durbin, on Spring street, where they will be always ready to furnish the public with anything in their line. See Advertisement.

Lecture on Electricity.—Prof. L. A. Lyon, lectures this evening, at the Universalist Church, on the subject of Electricity, and its various manifestations. He proposes to account for the Spiritual Rappings, and divers other unaccountable things in a rational manner. Tickets 25 cents; See Advertisement.

The Simms Anniversary.—A great meeting was held at Boston, on the 12th inst., to commemorate by suitable exercises the anniversary of the reception of Simms. The Commonwealth says the Melodeon was filled "with substantial intelligent men and women, who showed in their very faces that they look higher for the law that governs their conduct, than to a set of brandy-drinking, cigar-smoking, small-potato politicians, who have the good luck or cunning to get assembled together in a room at Washington."

An appropriate hymn, by Rev. John Pierpont, was read, and a discourse delivered by Theodore Parker, in which he compared the Boston of 1775 with the Boston of 1851. The following is an extract, and we may give some other portions of the proceedings, when we receive them all, and which we have not yet:

"The 12th day of April, 1851, is such a day of sin, and sadness, for on this day, in this State, a great crime was perpetrated—a great crime against the laws of our State and the rights of the poor—a great crime on the one side and a great defeat on the other. A poor man came to us and Boston received him in a prison. He was in distress and she sent unto him a Marshal and a Commissioner. He laid hold of the horns of the altar and he was rudely torn away and given up to his enemies. He sent round to the churches his humble prayer, but—I speak of the leading churches—in the name of their trinity, the gold eagle, the silver dollar, and copper cent, they baptized him a slave and his petition was rejected.—And this was done by the descendants of those who came to these shores to establish a church without a bishop, a state without a lord, and a family without a slave! In the name of the god of money Massachusetts sacrificed a man. It was a disgrace to Boston. The fair fame of Massachusetts had not suffered such a smutch before. At such a sin and such a calamity in her older days her churches and people would have fasted and prayed and kept their powder dry."

☞ Webster has written a letter re-affirming his devotedness to the Compromise measures, and the Fugitive Slave Law in particular. He says they are "a final settlement," and any attempt to open them again or to re-agitate them, will never receive from him "the least countenance or support, concurrence or approval, at any time or under any circumstances."

Of course not! Nobody expects it. When men like Daniel Webster fall, "they fall like Lucifer, never to rise again."

☞ The three quickest trips ever made across the Atlantic, were made by the Arctic, Baltic and Pacific, as follows:

Arctic, from N. Y. to Liverpool, 9d, 17h. 30 min.

Pacific, from N. Y. to Liverpool, 9d. 19h. 35 min.

Baltic, from N. Y. to Liverpool, 9d. 19h. 25 min.

The next quickest trip was made by the Africa, from New-York to Liverpool in ten days and two hours.

☞ The Democrats of Illinois have nominated the Hon. Joel Matterson, for Governor.

☞ The Sheboygan folks expect Congress will appropriate $10,000 for the improvement of their harbor.

☞ W. R. Woodbury, one of the proprietors of the Sheboygan Lake Journal offers his share of the establishment for sale. This is'nt at all strange.

The New Capitol of Texas.—The first sod has been dug to make way for the corner stone of the new State Capitol at Austin.—The Governor, Secretary of State, Comptroller and Auditor aided in the operation. The building will be constructed on a knoll at the end of Congress avenue, in a situation somewhat similar to the United States Capitol at the end of Pennsylvania avenue, in Washington City. It will be built of stone, two stories high, one hundred and forty feet by ninety.—St. Louis Union.

Movement of Troops.—We learn that in the course of a few days, two Companies of the Mounted Rifles, commanded by Maj. Sanderson, will leave Jefferson Barracks, by the overland route, to Fort Leavenworth, and thence proceed to Fort Laramie. The El Paso, which came down yesterday, brought thirty mules and several wagons, for the use of this detachment.—Ib.

Cleveland, April 16.

Ohio—Scott her Candidate.—The election held by the Whigs in the different Congressional Districts of this State on the 14th inst., resulted in the choice of Scott Delegates throughout.

J. A. Harris, Esq., editor of the Herald, is the delegate from this district.

Messrs. Sherman and Vinton are recommended as the delegates to represent the State at large.

District Conventions for the choice of Delegates to the Whig National Convention were held here to-day.

In the District, strong Scott resolutions were adopted by 80 yeas to 9 nays. A Scott delegate, of course, was chosen.

Warranted Prime, Pure and New Crop of 1851!
IMPORTED HOLLAND
GARDEN SEEDS.
From the Horticultural Garden of
J. D. ZOCHER & VOORHELM SCHNEEVOOGT,
Florists and Horticulturists, Harlem, Holland

THESE truly fresh, prime and reliable Garden Seeds, of the crop of 1851, are from one of the most celebrated and extensive Horticultural Gardens in the world. They are of superior sorts, and have been carefully selected by the proprietors, from the best and most vigorous plants—all, not strictly prime, being rejected by them.

Each paper has the year printed on it when the Seed was raised, so as to secure the purchaser against imposition of having old seeds palmed off upon him for new—a practice hitherto much complained of. It stands to reason, moreover, that when Seeds are distributed early in the fall, and before the new crop can possibly have been gathered, put up and delivered, they must, of necessity, be old seeds!

Orders for Garden Seeds, Fruit Trees, and Espaliers, comprising every variety of most highly approved. Also, standard Rose Trees, Shrubbery, and Bulbous Flower Roots, if addressed to the subscriber, by letter, pre-paid, will be forwarded by him to the house in Harlem, and promptly and carefully executed. THURSDAY................................APRIL 22.

LATE PUBLICATIONS.—We have received the April No. of Fowler & Wells' Phrenological Journal, containing a number of instructive articles on the particular science of which it is the exponent, and also considerable interesting miscellany.

Also their Water Cure Journal, giving information how man may wash and be cured from all the "ills that flesh is heir to." It contains a couple of wood cuts illustrating "the 'pathies." The first is a sturdy youngster struggling in the hands of two women who are trying to force down his throat a spoonful of medicine which he seems to think is awful "bad to take." The second is a little boy standing in a tub, receiving a showerbath.—He looks as pleased as a young duck in a summer shower. We scarcely need inform our readers that these valuable Journals are published monthly at New York at $1 per annum.

The Opal has also appeared again in pamphlet form. It is edited by the patients of the Insane Asylum at Utica, N. Y., and the April number shows that if they are insane, there is yet "method in their madness." It is also published at $1 a year.

RELIGIOUS INTOLERANCE.—Dr. King, the United States Consular Agent at Athens, in Greece, and a Missionary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, has been condemned to fifteen days' imprisonment, and then to be expelled the country. The London Chronicle's correspondent writes of the affair as follows:

"He has been accused of proselytism. He preached every Sunday in his own house, in Greek, to as many Greeks as he could get to listen to him, against the precepts of their Church; and he has also published a pamphlet, in which he attacks the doctrines of the Greek Church, both as a whole and in detail. He has been tried and condemned to 15 days' imprisonment, and to be dismissed the country. The gendarmes were obliged to defend him on his return to his own house after the trial, so great was the exasperation of the people against him."

☞ The Sheboygan Journal dogmatizes thus in regard to the writ of quo warranto against the Wisconsin Marine & Fire Insurance Company:

"Every lawyer knows that the judgment of the Court will be in favor of the Bank."

The opinion of so eminent a lawyer as F. J. Mills, Esq., of the Journal, settles this question without any further trial. What a benefaction to a State are such wise and infallible arbitrators.

The Journal has a very abusive personal attack on Mr. Quintus Editor of the Nieuwsbode.

The Explosion of the Glencoe.—John Ryan, one of the assistant Engineers on the Glencoe, made the following statement just before his death:

"That on the evening of the arrival of the Glencoe at this port, himself and George Buchanan, First Engineer of the boat, were on watch. Some time before reaching port he [Ryan] tried the water in the boilers and found it very low, and called to B. and informed him of the fact, and received some evasive answer. He again tried the water, and again called to Buchanan, who told him to mind his business, that there was enough water in the boilers, and he would take her to St. Louis with it or to hell. Not satisfied, Ryan expostulated, and Buchanan told him in substance, that it was his (Buchanan's) watch, and that he (Ryan) had nothing to do with pumping up, and moreover, that if he (Ryan) had his way, he would have the water from the boilers running out at the tops of the chimneys. Subsequently Buchanan remarked that the boat was making good time, and he would take her into St. Louis, kiting. This was perhaps the last remark made, and when the boat reached the wharf and commenced trying to effect a landing, Buchanan turned on the gage cock and let on the water. The instant the cold water came in contact with the boilers, now nearly dry, the explosion took place.—St. Louis Intelligencer.

TO EUROPE IN FIVE DAYS.—The authorities of Newfoundland have granted to H. B. Tibbatts and associates, of New York, the exclusive right to construct and use the magnetic telegraph across the island for the period of thirty years:

This telegraph line is to terminate at St. Johns, about 48 miles being submarine; hence from St. Johns to Galway, in Ireland, is 1647 miles, which an ocean steamer, such as the Baltic or Pacific, can make in five days. The telegraph line from Galway to London is to be completed this year; so that by a good line of steamers between St. Johns and Galway, the merchant of New York and the merchant of London come together by one-half the present distance in point of time; and with facilities for passengers to St. Johns, one-half the term of sea-sickness, and the chances of marine disasters, cease instantly.

Here opens the vista of a future day of commerce and intercourse between Europe and Asia through America, and from America, of which the world as yet has seen but the dawn. Mr. Tibbatts is now asking for a charter from our State Legislature for the incorporation of the New-York and Galway Steamship Company, and another act to incorporate the American and Irish Steamship Company is also before the Legislature.

Will the "Old Fogies," who are now standing on the track of growing commerce, stand out of the way or move with us in giving the spirit of the age leave to move on?

Central Indiana Railway.—Mr Meredith has sold at the East $100,000 of the bonds of the Indiana Central Railway at 90 cents, and has also purchased heavy T rail for the entire line, at $38 a long ton, the sellers advancing the freight and duty and giving a year's credit on it and the price of the iron. He has also contracted for twelve engines and all the apparatus for the first year. The whole line from the State line of Ohio to Indianapolis, is under contract to be finished and ready for use by the 1st of January, 1852.—Cin Gazette.

From Harper's Magazine:

Thrilling Sketch.—Battle of the Pyramids.

BY JOHN S. C. ABBOTT.

Cairo is on the Eastern Banks of the Nile. Mourad Bey had there assembled the greater part of the Mamelukes, nearly ten thousand in number for a decisive battle. These proud and powerful horsemen were supported by twenty-four thousand foot soldiers, strongly entrenched. Napoleon was marching along the western shore. On the 21st of July, Napoleon, conscious that he was near the city, set his army in motion before the break of day. Just as the sun was rising in those cloudless skies, the soldiers beheld the lofty minarets of the city upon the left, gilded by its rays, and upon the right, upon the borders of the desert, the gigantic pyramids rising like mountains upon an apparently boundless plain. The whole army instinctively halted, and gazed awe-stricken upon those monuments of antiquity.

The face of Napoleon beamed with enthusiasm: 'Soldiers,' he exclaimed, as he rode along the ranks: 'from these summits forty centuries contemplate your actions.' The ardor of the soldiers was aroused to the highest pitch. Animated by the clangor of martial bands, and the gleam of flaunting banners, they advanced with impetuous steps to meet their foes. The whole plain before them, at the base of the pyramids, was filled with armed men. The glittering weapons of ten thousand horsemen, in the utmost splendor of barbaric chivalry, brilliant plumes, the arms of burnished steel and gold, presented an array equally imposing. Undismayed, the French troops, marshalled into five invincible squares, marched on. There was apparently no alternative.

Napoleon must march upon these entrenchments behind which twenty-four thousand men, were stationed with their artillery and musketry to sweep his ranks, and a formidable body of ten thousand horsemen, on fleet and powerful Arabian steeds, awaiting the onset and ready to seize upon the slightest indication of confusion, to plunge with all the fury which fatalism can inspire upon his bleeding and mangled squares. It must have been a moment of intense anxiety. But as Napoleon sat upon his horse, in the centre of one of the squares, and carefully examined with his telescope the disposition of the enemy, no one could discern the slightest trace of uneasiness. His grave gaze was long and intense.

The keenness of scrutiny detected that the guns of the enemy were not mounted upon carriages and they could not, therefore, be turned from the direction in which they were placed. No other officer, though many of them had equally good glasses, made this important discovery. He immediately, by a lateral movement, guided his army to the right, towards the pyramids, that his squares might be out of the range of the guns, and that he might attack the enemy in the flank. The moment Mourad Bey perceived this evolution, he divined its object, and with great military sagacity, resolved instantly to charge.

'You shall now see us,' said the proud Bey, 'cut up those dogs like gourds.'

It was indeed a fearful spectacle. Ten thousand horsemen, magnificently dressed, with the fleetest steeds in the world, urging their horses with bloody spurs to the onset, rending the heavens with their cries, and causing the earth to tremble beneath the thunder of iron feet, came down upon the adamantine host. Nothing was ever seen in war more furious than this charge. Ten thousand horsemen in an enormous mass. Those longest inured to danger felt that it was an awful moment. It seemed impossible to resist such an avalanche. The most profound silence reigned through the ranks, interrupted only by the word of command. The nerves of excitement being aroused to the utmost tension, every order was executed with the most marvelous rapidity and precision. The soldiers held their breath, and with bristling bayonets stood shoulder to shoulder to receive the shock.

The moment the Mamelukes arrived within gun-shot, the artillery of the angles ploughed their ranks, and platoons of musketry, volley after volley, in a perfect uninterrupted flow, swept into their faces a pitiless tempest of destruction. Horses and riders, struck by balls, rolled over each other by hundreds in the sand, and were trampled and crushed by the iron hoofs of thousands of frantic steeds, enveloped in dust and smoke, composing the impetuous column. But the squares stood as firm as the pyramids at whose base they fought. Not one was broken—not one wavered—the daring Mamelukes, in the frenzy of their rage and disappointment, threw away their lives with the utmost recklessness.

They wheeled their horses round, and reined them back upon the ranks, that they might kick their way into the terrible fortresses of living men. Rendered furious by their inability to break the ranks, they hurled their pistols and carbines at the heads of the French. The wounded crawled along the ground, and cut at the legs of their indomitable foes.—They displayed superhuman bravery, the only virtue which the Mameluke possessed.

But an incessant and merciless fire from Napoleon's well-trained batallions continually thinned their ranks, and at length the Mamelukes, in the wildest disorder, broke and fled. The infantry in the intrenched camp, witnessing the utter discomfiture of the mounted troops, whom they had considered invincible, caught the panic and joined the flight. Napoleon now, in his turn, charged with the utmost impetuosity. A scene of indescribable confusion and horror ensued.

The extended plain was crowded with fugitives—footmen and horsemen, bewildered with terror, seeking to escape from their terrible foes. Thousands plunged into the river, and endeavored to escape by swimming to the opposite shore. But a shower of bullets, like hail-stones, fell upon them, and the waves of the Nile were crimsoned with blood. Others sought the desert, a wild and rabble rout. The victors with their accustomed celerity, pursued, pitilessly pouring into the dense masses of their flying foes, the most terrible discharges of artillery and musketry. The rout was complete—the carnage awful. The sun had hardly reached the meridian, before the whole embattled host had disappeared, and the plain, as far as the eye could extend, was strewn with the dead and dying.

The camp, with all its Oriental wealth, fell into the hands of the victors; and the soldiers enriched themselves with its profusions of splendid shawls, magnificent weapons, Arabian horses, and purses filled with gold. The Mamelukes were accustomed to lavish great wealth in the decoration of their persons, and to carry with them large sums of money.—The gold and the trappings found upon the body of each Mameluke were worth from twelve hundred to two thousand dollars. Besides those who were slain upon the field, more than a thousand of these formidable horseman were drowned in the Nile. For many days the soldiers employed themselves in fishing up the rich booty, and the French camp was filled to abundance. This most sanguinary battle cost the French scarcely one hundred men in killed and wounded.—More than ten thousand of the enemy perished. Napoleon gazed with admiration upon the bravery which these proud horsemen displayed. 'Could I have united the Mameluke horsemen to the French infantry,' said he, 'I should have reckoned myself master of the world.'

After the battle, Napoleon, now undisputed conquerer of Egypt, quartered himself for the night in the country palace of Mourad Bey. The apartments of this voluptuous abode were embellished with all the appurtenances of Oriental luxury. The officers were struck with surprise in viewing the multitude of cushions and divans, covered with the finest damasks and silks, and ornamented with golden fringe. Egypt was beggared to administer to the sensual indulgence of these haughty despots. Much of the night was passed in exploring the singular mansion.—The garden was extensive and magnificent in the extreme. Innumerable vines were laden with the richest grapes.

The vintage was soon gathered by the thousands of soldiers who filled the alleys and loitered in the arbors. Pots of preserves, of confectionery, and of sweetmeats of every kind, were quickly devoured by an army of mouths. The thousands of little elegancies which Europe, Asia and Africa had contributed to minister to the voluptuous splendor of the regal mansion, were speedily transferred to the knapsacks of the soldiers.

The "Battle of the Pyramids," as Napoleon characteristically designated it, sent a thrill of terror far and wide into the interior of Asia and Africa. These proud, merciless, licentious oppressors, were execrated by the timid Egyptians, but they were deemed invincible. In one hour they had vanished, like the mist, before the genius of Napoleon.

The caravans which came to Cairo, circulated through the vast regions of the interior with all the embellishments of Oriental exaggeration, most glowing accounts of the destruction of these terrible squadrons which had so long tyranized over Egypt, and the fame of whose military prowess had caused the most distant tribes to tremble. The name of Napoleon became suddenly as renowned in Asia and Africa, as it had previously become in Europe.

But twenty-one days had elapsed since he placed his foot upon the sands of Alexandria, and now he was the sovereign of Egypt.—The Egyptians also welcomed him as a friend, and a liberator. The sheets of flame which incessantly burst from the French ranks, so deeply impressed their imaginations, that they gave to Napoleon the Oriental appellation of Sultan Kebir, or King of Fire.

CULTURE OF ASPARAGUS.—There is scarcely a garden plant less understood than Asparagus. Many who know and appreciate its great delicacy as a table esculent, look upon it almost as forbidden fruit, from its supposed rarity and difficult culture. Nothing can be farther from the truth. An humble sea-shore plant, braving the salt waves, winter's cold and summer's heat, it has been brought into the garden, acclimated and tendered, until it holds the first rank among the vegetable luxuries of the table. But it takes three years to mature from the seed, before it can be cut for the table, and this is the bug-bear. There is no crop easier of culture, and none that pays more in the amount of nutrious food than the Asparagus bed; admitting that it takes three years to get the first bite. The seed may be planted in any good garden soil in February or March, in drills, and as the plants come up and grow, keep them well worked with the hoe, the roots will be sufficiently large by fall and winter to transplant. The plant will grow in any kind of soil, but as its delicacy and tenderness comes from its rapid growth, it should have rich soil; it will bear almost any quantity of manure, and delights in a sandy soil; as it is a sea-shore plant, it also delights in salt, and a top dressing of salt over the bed, at least twice in the season, will keep down all the grass and weeds and invigorate the plants.

It has been supposed absolutely necessary to transplant Asparagus, and to have beds trenched and bricked up at the bottom and sides; but any good garden soil that will bring beets or cabbages, will bring good Asparagus. It may be made just as much better as the gardener may think proper to mature. In transplanting for a bed, plant the roots about eight inches by ten; keep down the weeds by the application of salt. Work in a good coat of manure in the winter, and you may commence cutting the tender stalks the next spring, and the same stalks may be cut many times in the season. To those who do not wish to transplant, plant the seed in good soil, and work them as directed for the roots, and the third year the stem may be cut for the table. One great advantage in cultivating this plant is its earliness; coming before English peas or snaps and continuing for a long time. It is the best harbinger of spring, and it is to herbivorous man, what the tender grass of spring must be to the longing cattle. Whoever owns a garden spot, plant an Asparagus bed; it is a cheap, healthy luxury, and should be within the reach of all who crave the early treasure of spring.

Lock Jaw.—We have noticed in the papers lately notices of several deaths by this disease, one of them in this neighborhood. We have published several times a certain preventive and remedy, in the application of beef's gall to the wound. Will not our editorial brethren circulate the information, and thereby save many valuable lives? Besides its anti-spasmodic properties, the gall draws from the wound any particles of wood, glass, iron, or other substances that may cause irritation, when other applications have failed to do so.—Lancaster Gazette.

Plank Road.—A. L. Mc Crea Esq., who has the contract for the construction of the Sheboygan and Taycheedah Road, has now on the work one hundred hands, which will ensure its completion at an early day. And by this means Lake Michigan will be connected with Lake Winnebago.—Sheboygan Jour.

'What is the best attitude for self-defence?' asked a pupil (putting on gloves) of a well known pugilist. 'Keep a civil tongue in your head,' was the significant reply.

A young poet out west describing heaven, says—

"It's a world of bliss, fenced in with girls."

Where is the man who won't repent now.

A man on getting out of an omnibus a few days ago, made use of two rows of knees as bannisters to steady himself, at which the ladies took offence, and one of them cried aloud—'A perfect savage.' 'True,' said a wag inside, 'he belongs to the Paw Knee tribe.'

The cause of freedom is identified with the destinies of humanity, and in whatever part of the world it gains ground, by and by it will be a common gain to all those who desire it.—Kossuth.

MAKING SHIRTS FOR SIX-PENCE A DOZEN.—A female correspondent of a New York paper writes as follows:

"A woman has made a dozen shirts for an establishment down town, and got for her work—hear it!—six-pence a piece? No sir! Six-pence for a dozen! I thought that was bad enough, but my informer meekly states that they furnish the buttons, but do not furnish the thread! That's working for the privilege of starving, I take it. I learned, also, a little of the beautiful system pursued. The shirts are not given out without the deposit of a dollar by the poor woman, who don't know, commonly, where to get half a dollar. The shirts are made, well made, (better than I would do them,) carried home. But a woman—excuse me—a female is brought in, (she is part of the system,) and the work is submitted to her, and she detects great faults in it, and the honest, just, liberal employer coolly states to the poor creature who waits to receive her own—what? why the sum he will have to pay the censoress for taking it out and doing it again. He states it to the woman who has a family to support, and don't know where to go for a cent, and had counted on her pay to furnish one comfortable meal and a fire, as a treat for her family."

We knew that the condition of those sewing women was bad enough, but if this statement is true it is worse than we supposed. There must be something radically defective in the organization of society when labor and capital occupy relative positions so monstrously unequal and unjust.

The Liberty to Stultify.—This is a very precious liberty in Boston—the apple of the eye to eminent men among us. It is a two-fold liberty, including the right to make a fool of yourself, and to make fools of other people, so far as possible. The Maine Law attacks the latter directly, and the former indirectly. O, execrable, tyrannical law, to demolish such a precious two-fold liberty!—O, how sweet it is to be a fool! How doubly sweet, to make many fools! The beginnings of folly are perfectly delicious. But this inexorable, sumptuary Maine Law says you shall not put your foot into it—no, not even your toe! O, how foully despotic?—and this too in a free republic! Yes, in this very vaunted, self-governing republic, a liberty is struck down which Nicholas and Francis Joseph, and Louis Napoleon venerate. Not even those horrid despots dare forbid their people to be fools. And if they dared to, they wouldn't do it. Amidst all their coups d'etat, and boulevard shootings, the right of self-stultification has remained sacred. And shall a self-governing republic, whose very life consists in the intelligence of its people, stoop to an act of tyranny from which autocrats and despots shrink with horror, and thus shut itself up to wisdom and soundness of mind? O, awful thought!!—Commonwealth.

Another Canal Boat Sunk.—The canal boat Charter Oak, loaded with lumber, sunk in the Illinois river, at Beachtown, on Saturday.

The U. S. Supreme Court have decided the Clamorgan grant, under which 500,000 acres of land were claimed in Arkansas, in favor of the Government.

News from Havana to the 7th inst. A terrible fight had occurred between some English and American sailors a few days previous. The military were called out to suppress the affray, but before this could be done, several persons were killed.

April 15th, the U. S. Senate, by a vote of 26 to 10, ordered the French spoliation bill to be engrossed for a third reading. Mr. Borland's amendment, striking out the limitation to $500,000, was rejected.

Within nine days, says the Halifax Sun of March 27th, 6000 barrels of mackerel, nearly 1000 barrels herring, and about 1000 firkins of butter, have been shipped from this port to the U. States.

There were cleared at Mobile, on Tuesday, 17,538 bales of cotton, of which 13,265 bales were for Liverpool, and the remainder for N. York, Havre and Corunna. The largest export from Mobile for any one day this season.

For the Removal and Permanent Cure of all

NERVOUS DISEASES,

And of those Complaints which are caused by an impaired, weakened or unhealthy condition of the

NERVOUS SYSTEM.

This beautiful and convenient application of the mysterious powers of GALVANISM and MAGNETISM, has been pronounced by distinguished physicians, both in Europe and the United States, to be the most valuable medicinal discovery of the age.

Dr. CHRISTIE'S GALVANIC BELT

and

MAGNETIC FLUID,

is used with the most perfect and certain success in all cases of

GENERAL DEBILITY,

Strengthening the weakened body, giving tone to the various organs, and invigorating the entire system. Also in FITS, CRAMP, PARALYSIS and PALSY, DYSPEPSIA or INDIGESTION, RHEUMATISM, ACUTE and CHRONIC, GOUT, EPILEPSY, LUMBAGO, DEAFNESS, NERVOUS TREMORS, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, APOPLEXY, NEURALGIA, PAINS in the SIDE and CHEST, LIVER COMPLAINT, SPINAL COMPLAINT, and CURVATURE of the SPINE, HIP COMPLAINT, DISEASES of the KIDNEYS, DEFICIENCY of NERVOUS and PHYSICAL ENERGY, and all NERVOUS DISEASES, which complaints arise from one simple cause—namely,

A Derangement of the Nervous System.

☞ In NERVOUS COMPLAINTS, Drugs and Medicines increase the disease, for they weaken the vital energies of the already prostrated system; while, under the strengthening, life-giving, vitalizing influence of Galvanism, as applied by this beautiful and wonderful discovery, the exhausted patient and weakened sufferer is restored to former health, strength, elasticity and vigor

The great peculiarity and excellence of

consists in the fact that they attack and cure disease by outward application, in place of the usual mode of drug gung, and by sticking the patient till exhausted Nature takes hopelessly under the infliction.

They strengthen the whole system, equalize the circulation of the blood, promote the secretions, and never do the slightest injury under any circumstances. Since their introduction in the United States, only three years since more than

75,000 Persons

including all ages, classes and conditions, among which were a large number of ladies, who are peculiarly subject to Nervous Complaints, have been

when all hope of relief had been given up, and everything else been tried in vain!

To Illustrate the use of the GALVANIC BELT suppose the case of a person afflicted with that bane of civilization, DYSPEPSIA, or any other Chronic or Nervous Disorder. In ordinary cases, stimulants are taken which, by their action on the nerves and muscles of the stomach, afford temporary relief, but which leave the patient in a lower state and with injured faculties, after the action thus excited has ceased. Now compare this with the effect resulting from the application of the GALVANIC BELT. Take a Dyspeptic sufferer, even in the worst symptoms of an attack, and simply tie the Belt around the body, using the Magnetic Fluid as directed. In a short period the insensible perspiration will act on the positive element of the Belt, thereby causing a Galvanic circulation which will pass on to the negative, and thence back again to the positive, thus keeping up a continuous Galvanic circulation throughout the system. Thus the most severe cases of DYSPEPSIA are PERMANENTLY CURED. A FEW DAYS IS AMPLY SUFFICIENT TO ERADICATE THE DISEASE OF YEARS.

CERTIFICATES AND TESTIMONIALS

Of the most Undoubted Character,

From all parts of the country could be given, sufficient to fill every column in this paper:

AN EXTRAORDINARY CASE,

which conclusively proves that

"Truth is stranger than Fiction."

CURE OF

RHEUMATISM, BRONCHITIS, AND DYSPEPSIA

REV. DR. LANDIS, A CLERGYMAN

of New Jersey, of distinguished attainments and exalted reputation:—

SUSSEX, New Jersey, July 12, 1848.

DR. A. H. CHRISTIE—Dear Sir: You wish to know of me what has been the result in my own case, of the application of THE GALVANIC BELT AND NECKLACE? My reply is as follows:

For about twenty years I had been suffering from Dyspepsia. Every year the symptoms became worse, nor could I obtain permanent relief from any course of medical treatment whatever. About fourteen years since, in consequence of frequent exposure to the weather, in the discharge of my pastoral duties, I became subject to a severe Chronic Rheumatism, which for a year after that caused me indescribable anguish. Further: in the winter of '45 and '46, in consequence of preaching a great deal in my own and various other churches in this region, I was attacked by the Bronchitis, which soon became so severe as to require an immediate suspension of my pastoral labors. My nervous system was now thoroughly prostrated, and as my Bronchitis became worse, so also did my Dyspepsia and Rheumatic affection—thus evincing that these disorders were connected with each other through the medium of the Nervous System. In the whole pharmacopœia there seemed to be no remedial agent which could reach and recuperate my Nervous System; every thing that I had tried for this purpose had completely failed. At last I was led by my friends to examine your inventions, and (though with no very sanguine hopes of their efficacy,) I determined to try the effect of the application of the GALVANIC BELT AND NECKLACE, with the MAGNETIC FLUID. This was in June, 1846. To my great astonishment, in two days my Dyspepsia had gone; in eight days I was enabled to resume my pastoral labors, nor have I since omitted a single service on account of the Bronchitis, and my Rheumatic affection has entirely ceased to trouble me. Such is the wonderful and happy result of the experiment.

I have recommended the BELT and FLUID to many who have been likewise suffering from Neuralgic affections. They have tried them, with happy results, I believe in every case.

I am, dear sir, very respectfully yours,

ROBERT W. LANDIS.

DR. CHRISTIE'S

GALVANIC NECKLACE

Is used for all complaints affecting the Throat or Head such as Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Throat, Nervous and Sick Headache, Dizziness of the Head, Neuralgia in the Face, Hissing or Roaring in the Ears, Deafness which is generally Nervous, and that distressing complaint, called Tic Doloreux.

DR. CHRISTIE'S

GALVANIC BRACELETS

Are found of vast service in cases of Convulsions or Fits, Spasmodic Complaints, and general Nervous Affections of the Head and upper extremities. Also in Palsy and Paralysis, and all diseases caused by a deficiency of power or Nervous Energy in the limbs or other organs of the body.

☞ Many hundred Certificates from all parts of the country of the most extraordinary character can be given, if required.

☞ No trouble or inconvenience attends the use of DR. CHRISTIE'S GALVANIC ARTICLES, and they may be worn by the most feeble and delicate, with perfect ease and safety. In many cases the sensation attending their use is highly pleasant and agreeable. They can be sent to any part of the country.

GREAT WORK ON CIVILIZATION.

This valuable work has just arrived at

C. OTT'S BOOKSTORE.

It is the work of the age. From a large number of liberal and highly complimentary notices of this work, from the religious and secular press, we only select the following:

"This admirable work is at length before us, and we hasten to inform our readers of the valuable addition, which has thus been made to the Literature of our country. The work is by far the most important of its kind, ever published in this country. It is in fact a complete library in itself, condensed and so arranged as to bring the whole question within the grasp of the humblest reader. It appears most appropriately at the present time, and will, no doubt, prove an instrument of great efficacy in the work of diffusing sound doctrines on the matters of which it treats."—Truth Teller. april 22

GREAT WESTERN

STOVE DEPOT!

Nos. 87, 89 and 91, East Water street,
MILWAUKEE.

THE subscribers having been appointed agents of the PRESQUE ISLE IRON FOUNDRY, (the largest Stove manufactory in the United States,) are prepared to offer to the trade, and to retail customers and at LOWER PRICES, than can be bought at any place west of Albany.

A better article of Stoves

From an experience often years in the Stove business in Milwaukee, we have learned what kinds are best adapted to the wants of this country, and have no hesitation in saying, that in point of style, utility and durability, the excel all others brought to this market. The designs and patterns are neat and tasteful, and being run from the blast, are not as liable to crack as those run from the pig, for the reason that the latter receives one more melting than the former.

Among our Cooking Stoves may be found the LIVINGSTON and PRIZE, two Stoves that stand without a rival among the "Air Tights." The Lion is a diving three flue stove, with two tops, one for barrel or tea pail kettles, and the other for boilers, tea-kettles, pots, &c; also, the KEYSTONE and CHAUTAUQUE FARMER, with elevated ovens. The Keystone is regarded by all who have seen it as the finest specimen of a cooking stove ever presented to the public, and the fact is attested by the large number sold.

The Chautauque Farmer, was designed expressly for the farmers' use, it having no bake or division plates, making the fire-place large and not liable to burn out.

Of the above mentioned Stoves we might give over 500 certificates, proving their good qualities, from persons who have used them; but as we guarantee them to be the best in use, we do not deem it necessary. We have also every variety of

Premium and Double-Oven Cooking,

From No 1 to 6; also a great variety of of splendid patterns, with and without folding doors, together with an endless variety of
